A COMPLEMENT FOR GER TAXY CONGRESS.-The Wisconsin of Saturday gives our present Congress, which is largely "democratic" in both branches, the following "first-rate notice":

The dilatoriness of Congress has become so proverbial, that no one is much surprised that nearly seen months of the tession have passed, and literally not one month's business has been done. We are among those who think they when and literally not one month's business has been done. We are among those who think that a few gennion cases of Asiatic cholera at Washington would be a blessing. It would frighten the members into the activity to finish up the business and then adjourn. They would not dare to leave without acting on the most important bills; and they would be fearful to spin out the session unconventible lowering the choice is an expression unconventible lowering the choice is necessurily long—for the cholera is no respecter of even Congressmen.
